The journey to Ngulia Safari Lodge is itself a game drive. A must to do during your stay at the lodge include:

- Shetani Lava flow - Shetani means 'devil' in Kiswahili. When the locals first saw 'fire' erupting and 'flowing' on the ground some 500 years ago, they believed that it was the devil himself emerging from the earth. The Shetani black lava flow is 8 km long, 1.6 km wide and 5 meters deep. The sight is quite special and spectacular.
- Chaimu volcanic crater and lava field – The road color changes from red to black as you get closer to Chaimu. Chaimu crater, or "the devil's crater" in Kamba tribe language, is a tall rising hill clad in the bright black colour of the lava stones. You can climb this recent volcano as there is a path leading to the top. Climbing the hill is not easy as it is not stable and can be slippery.
- Five sister's hills - One more volcanic feature of Tsavo West is 'Five Sisters,' the five almost identical cone-shaped hills located in one area and resembling one another. The scenery is stunning – a low ridge of black lava outcrop, long luscious grass and conical hills that make the Five Sisters.
- Mzima springs are replenished with two hundred and twenty million liters of crystal-clear water every day. It comes from the underground streams flowing from the nearby Chyulu Hills. Mzima in Swahili means 'Life'. It attracts rich wildlife including elephants, hippos, crocodiles, gazelles, zebras and giraffes wandering around the banks through the thick acacias and raffia palms together with a large number of monkeys and birds. Mzima is also the main source of Mombasa's city water supply. There are well-marked nature trails, an observation platform and an underwater glass tank. You can take a walk guided by a ranger there.
